

Reviewing Instructions and Confirming

Nuclear and PET/CT Stress Testing

You are scheduled for a Nuclear stress test or a PET/CT stress test. Please carefully read the information below.

1. Four business days before your appointment someone from our office will call you to review your instructions and confirm your appointment. If our staff is unable to speak with you, they will leave a message asking you to call the office.
2. If we do not hear back from you after the first phone call, we will call you again the next business day. If our staff is still unable to speak with you after the second phone call, your appointment will be cancelled. Someone from our office will call you back to reschedule your appointment.
3. We will make every attempt possible to call you and leave messages on all phone numbers provided. If you do not receive a phone call or message to review the instructions and confirm your appointment, you must call the office.
4. Call the office between 9:00am and 4:00pm Monday-Friday using the phone number and extension below. Please leave a message that you need someone to call you back to review your instructions and confirm your appointment.
5. Do not call after hours and leave a message with the answering service.

It is very important to remember, you must speak to someone from our office on the phone to review your instructions and confirm your appointment. Leaving a message is not enough to hold your appointment. If you have not spoken with someone from our office, your appointment will be canceled. *****
